Pastoral Potpourri

John Wooden is probably the greatest college basketball coach. During his tenure at UCLA, in a 12-year span of time, he won 10 national championships - 7 of them in a row. In his book, They Call Me Coach, he says the team which makes the most mistakes will probably win. But how can that be? Because it is "doers" who make mistakes. The greatest and most successful businesses are often those which have made a lot of mistakes. Likewise, the most active churches are often those which make mistakes.

We tend to seek out agencies, institutions, churches, and even people that make the least mistakes. But the most capable of these are probably those which have made the most mistakes. They are active - they are working - they are trying - they are doing. So, they make mistakes - and they learn from them...and God smiles. I'll see you in church, Stephen

Session Meeting notes, June 19, 2018

1. Morgan Williams and Ginna Wayland presented their proposal for a Coordinator of Family Ministries. The Session thanked the committee of Morgan Williams, Ginna Wayland, Madison Rhoden, and Jessika Smith for their work and approved the position. The committee will now work on advertising and filling the position.
2. Casey LeVie is staying in Waco this summer and will continue to work with our children on Wednesday nights. Thanks, Casey!
3. Central's financial picture continues to be strong.
4. Approved the formation of a committee to plan for Central's 150th Anniversary on February 14, 2019.
5. Stephen will be on vacation July 16-24.

Coordinator of Family Ministries

Following several months of prayer, study, and discussions, the Session has approved a new position at Central Presbyterian Church: Coordinator of Family Ministries. The primary role of this part-time position is to assist the congregation with a sense of community beyond its doors by supporting young families with spiritual growth. Among the responsibilities of this position are: implementation of Children, Youth, Young Adult and Multigenerational programs for families; Eagerness to be an ambassador for the Gospel of Christ through evangelism; Outreach to families within the community.

To accomplish this the person will: creatively develop and implement a ministry vision and philosophy that balances evangelism and discipleship while strategically uniting all family ministries; stay current in Social Media trends to raise the visibility of Family ministries as a whole; Possess an understanding of the millennial generation, both children and families, guide their spiritual development, and assist parents in the spiritual growth of their children; establish relationships within the community and surrounding churches.

A special thank you to the committee for their hard work in discerning God's will and developing this position: Madison Rhoden, Jessika Smith, Ginna Wayland, and Morgan Williams.

For the complete Scope of Work, copies are available in the Narthex.

Living Our WHY

Companies that study their competitors in hopes of adding the features and benefits that will make their product "better" are only working to entrench the company in WHAT it does. Companies with a clear sense of WHY tend to ignore their competition. Likewise, churches with a fuzzy sense of WHY are obsessed with what other churches are doing.

"To lovingly serve so that all experience hope and encouragement through the Holy Spirit" is our WHY.

In Our Thoughts and Prayers

Jeanette Bloemer, for her upcoming ablation procedure.

David Rodgers's brother, Doug, preparing for heart valve replacement surgery.

Matt Bierwirth's sister, Margo, recently diagnosed with cancer.

Anne Stewart's mother, Anne, with her continuing health concerns.

The Pastor Nominating Committee of Central Presbyterian Church.

General Assembly, as they conclude their meeting in St. Louis.

The team tasked with identifying our new Coordinator of Family Ministries, as they seek whom God has called to fill that new position.

Update on Charlie and Lynda Packard: They were able to get back in their condo last week, following the wildfire. They have not found their dog and suspect she did not survive. Their home did not sustain damage.

Celebrating Birthdays

Gabby Franks - June 25

Joyce Fisseler - July 10
